The iceberg meets the titanic

Speaker: Dr Gaynor Blankley

Gaynor will outline that we often only see the "tip of the iceberg". She will discuss what can be beneath the tip and how early experiences, past experiences of vulnerability and care impact on how a person may experience current care at this developmental stage of their lives. She will provide some illustrative case examples and within these she will look at the role the health care system can play in navigating the "storm" that can occur for patients and how we may need to challenge our assumptions as health care providers.
